Thaw ignored in Paris talks

PARIS (UPI) — North Vietnam, ignoring Communist China's goodwill gestures to the United States, today restated its hardline conditions for a Vietnam peace settlement. Washington had rejected the proposal before and U.S.

Ambassador David K. E. Bruce did so again today.

Xuan Thuy, the chief Hanoi negotiator who has been in Moscow for consultations, prefaced today's 109th meeting with a statement to reporters he was going into the meeting with "concrete proposals" to end the deadlock in the talks.

Instead he presented a three-point plan demanding a unilateral U.S. troop withdrawal, overthrow of the Saigon regime of President Nguyen Van Thieu and a complete halt to all U.S. air raids and reconnaissance flights on North Vietnam.

President Nixon had said that to agree to such Communist demands would amount to capitulation. Bruce dismissed the demands today as a propaganda maneuver that showed North Vietnam's refusal to engage in genuine negotiation and unmasked its "bellicosity."

I saw absolutely nothing new" in Hanoi's proposals, Bruce told newsmen following the meeting. He said the two sides did not even discuss the new outline.

Asked if the new state of Chinese-American relations would have a favorable effect on the talks here, Bruce said, "I have no view on that."

SAIGON's Chief delegate Pham Dang Lam said the Communist demands remained directed at "the same and only aim, which is the seizure of power in South Vietnam and not the settlement of the conflict."

that NASA is looking for, according to Paul Fritz, superintendent of the Craters of the Moon.

Fritz told the Times-News today that he and a number of other area residents, including Gale Brammer, publisher of the Arco Advertiser; former Idaho Sen. John Andrew, and an Arco physician, Dr. Robert F. Barter, have made a formal bid for Idaho to house the facility.

"NASA is looking for a large flat plain with no obstructions such as hills to allow the space shuttle flights," Fritz said. A unique combination of "remoteness yet closeness to urban areas for housing" is provided by the Idaho desert which is conveniently close to Idaho Falls on the east and Twin Falls on the south.

Transportation is available on "two major freeways," including Interstate 80 east and west, and Interstate 15 north from Pocatello and Idaho Falls, along with the railroad spur through Twin Falls.

Security would be provided from the National Reactor Testing Station near Arco, and the NRTS could manufacture and nuclear propellant which rumor says will be tested in the space shuttle program, Fritz said.

Though NASA has not released any specifics of its needs, Arco citizens are enthusiastically bidding for NASA's attention. The desert between Arco, Rupert and Aberdeen "has a lot of things

One prime site being considered lies in Minidoka and Blaine counties.

Idaho's bid for the spaceport was strengthened with word of the visit of the chief of NASA's Space Shuttle Facilities Task Force, Maj. Gen. (Ret.) Robert H. Curtin, who will arrive at the Mountain Home Air Force Base next Tuesday to confer with state and local officials.

Gen. Curtin is touring 23 states to inspect prospective sites for the spaceport, which would launch America's "second generation" of space flights, succeeding the series of moon landings. The spaceport would house facilities for testing a revolutionary "space shuttle" which would ferry men and supplies to an orbiting space station.

Idaho sites studied for 'spaceport'

ARCO — Idaho has at least an outside chance of housing a giant spaceport involving expenditure of $6 billion by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), and employing up to 12,000 persons.

One prime site being considered lies in Minidoka and Blaine counties.

Idaho's bid for the spaceport was strengthened with word of the visit of the chief of NASA's Space Shuttle Facilities Task Force, Maj. Gen. (Ret.) Robert H. Curtin, who will arrive at the Mountain Home Air Force Base next Tuesday to confer with state and local officials.

Allies maneuver to slow attacks

SAIGON (UPI) — The South Vietnamese commanding general in the Central Highlands said today counterattacks by South Vietnamese forces and U.S. air attacks had slowed but not halted a Communist offensive there. Two sharp battles broke out today near Fire Base 6 and the ARVN said 81 Communists were killed.

Maj. Gen. Ngo Dzu, commander of the II Military Region which encompasses the Central Highlands 300 miles north of Saigon, said the aim of the North Vietnamese offensive still remained the capture of Fire

Base 6, then Dak To and Ben

Net.

Ben Net is a border Ranger outpost six miles northeast of Fire Base 6, and Dak To is eight miles northeast of Fire Base 6.

UPI correspondent Stewart Kellerman reported from the front that 43 North Vietnamese were killed and two captured in an attack on a South Vietnamese position a half mile from the fire base today and that another 38 were killed in an hour-long battle two miles southeast of the base. Four South Vietnamese paratroopers were killed and eight wounded.

Kellerman said Communist sappers made a further attempt this morning to get into the big South Vietnamese headquarters at the supply base at Can Canh, overlooking Dak To, but were driven off.

South Vietnamese spokesman in Saigon said a regimental sized task force (about 2,700 men) began an operation

Wednesday to clear Communists from Phu Nhieu district in neighboring Pleiku province.

Three nominating petitions have been taken out by unnamed persons, Staudaher said, but none had been filed as of Wednesday afternoon.

Each nominating petition must be signed by at least five qualified voters residing within the district, and must be filed with the school district by next Friday, April 23, before 5 p.m.

School race in doldrums

TWIN FALLS — Little interest has developed in the trustee election for the Twin Falls School District, with the filing deadline just a week away.

George Staudaher, incoming superintendent of schools, said seats of two trustees, Edward R. (Ted) Smith in Zone 3, and Dr. H. W. Ronk, in Zone 4, are up for election.

The nominating petitions have been taken out by unnamed persons, Staudaher said, but none had been filed as of Wednesday afternoon.

Park slates staff boost

BOISE (UPI) — Atty. Gen. W. Anthony Park said Wednesday he would hire four new attorneys this week as part of his plan to organize a staff of "highly professional and dedicated career employees."

Park said his appropriation of $40,750 for fiscal year 1972 — an increase over the $500,000 appropriation to the office for the two-year 1969-71 period — would be used to hire the new attorneys and to raise salaries for present employees.

Park said the new employees would be chosen from applications from law school graduates and practicing attorneys. He said one would be placed in labor and education, one in business regulation, one in the environmental and lands division,

Rail wage hike asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A presidential emergency board has recommended a round of pay increases for railroad signalmen that would give workers their first pay raise in almost two years.

The board proposed to President Nixon Wednesday a 5 per cent general wage increase retroactive to Jan. 1, 1970; a 4 per cent increase retroactive to April 1, and 5 per cent increases effective Oct. 1. The board proposed per cent increases on April 1, 1972, and Oct. 1, 1972.

His 40th year

CELEBRATING 40 years of employment at the Antiseptic Barber Shop is Charlie Harrison, who started work there in 1931, seven years after coming to Twin Falls. A group of his friends and customers sent him a special anniversary card, signed by many business men. Harrison, who is shoeshine man and "jack of all trades," said people got their hair cut more often in the 1920's but the shoeshine business is as good as ever.

RUPERT — J. E. Hammond, 75, Rupert, died Tuesday in Rupert Nursing Home of a long illness.

He was born Sept. 22, 1895, at Auburn, Wyo., and attended schools in Wyoming. He moved to Moore, Idaho, and married Dolly Taylor on Nov. 1, 1915, there. They operated a ranch there until 1930, when they moved to the Rupert area, and purchased a farm in the Pioneer district.

Later they moved to Rupert and operated the Red Shutter Motel. He semi-retired and carried the mail from the depot to the post office in Rupert. She died on July 1, 1970.

He held a life membership in the Rupert Lions Club, was a member of the Pioneer Grange and Pomerona Grange as well as the Rupert-Burley Knife and Fork Club. He also was a member of the LDS Church.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Leola Wall, Heyburn; and Mrs. Nedra Caldwell, Rupert; two sisters, Mrs. Goldie Goodrich and Mrs. Stella Hemstreet, both Sacramento, Calif., and seven grandchildren, and 13 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Rupert LDS Tabernacle. Final rites will be in Rupert Cemetery. Friends may call at Walk Mortuary Friday afternoon and evening and at the church one hour prior to services.

tion, and one in the criminal division.

He said the new attorneys were needed "because of the added responsibility in the area of environment the legislature has bestowed upon us" and to "help reduce the backlog of criminal appeals which we are now confronting."

Park said he presently has a staff of 17 attorneys under him. Six of those are stationed at other agencies: two with the State Tax Commission, two with the Department of Law Enforcement, one with the Department of Public Assistance, and one at the Public Utilities Commission.

"We hope to be able to establish an office — the big portion of which at least will be government lawyers. The ultimate goal would be to have highly professional and dedicated career employees who would be competent to meet the best the private sector would have to offer."

Park said part of the money would be used to implement salary increases under a program designed "to encourage the people to consider remaining with the office of the attorney general."

In the past, he said, one of the major problems has been the lack of continuity and the turnover.

Park said he has divided the office into "broad areas of specific responsibility and emphasis." Those include the criminal division under Deputy Atty. Gen. Martin Ward; the environmental and land division under deputy Atty. Gen. John Magel.

Oscar rites due tonight

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The suspense of the 43rd annual Academy Awards presentations tonight was heightened by the possibility that George C. Scott, who belittled the Oscars, will win the best actor of the year award.

Scott, who starred in the title role of "Patton," has said he would not accept the award if he wins.

"I simply don't wish to be involved. I will not attend the award ceremony nor will any approved representative of mine attend," said Scott.

The four other nominees in competition with Scott were Melvyn Douglas ("I Never Sang for My Father"), James Earl Jones ("The Great White Hope"), Jack Nicholson ("Five Easy Pieces") and Ryan O'Neal ("Love Story").

At least 22 golden statuettes will be presented to performers, craftsmen, artists and technicians at the Los Angeles Music Center to be telecast (NBC) at 10 p.m. EST.

The show itself will include such luminaries as Bob Hope, Goldie Hawn, Maggie Smith, Burt Bacharach, Eva Marie Saint, Gregory Peck, Burt Lancaster, Walter Matthau, Janet Gaynor and Steve McQueen.

A special Jean Hershot award for humanitarian contributions will be made to Frank Sinatra in one of his final public appearances before his retirement.

In addition to the interest generated by actor Scott, the motion picture community is anxious to learn if "Love Story" succeeds as well among academy voters as it has at the boxoffice. The sentimental film is becoming one of the most successful movies ever.

Competing with "Love Story" for best picture of the year were "Airport," "Five Easy Pieces," "M-A-S-H," and "Patton."

Nominated for best performance by an actress were: Jane Alexander ("The Great White Hope") Glenda Jackson ("Women in Love"), Ali MacGraw ("Love Story"), Sarah Miles ("Ryan's Daughter") and Carrie Snodgress ("Diary of a Mad Housewife").

School camp slated

TWIN FALLS — A $5,200 federal grant from the Office of Education will allow the Twin Falls School District to conduct a summer camp for handicapped children during the summer vacation, according to George Staudaher, incoming superintendent of schools.

The idea of the camp for handicapped children was developed by Doyt Simcoe, director of special services for the school district. Funds were applied for, and authorization was received Wednesday, under Title 6, ESEA, administered by the Office of Education.

The grant was "somewhat smaller than we had hoped for," Staudaher said, but the program will be adapted to meet the available funds.

The summer camping program will accommodate 60 handicapped youngsters, under the guidance of the district's two special-education teachers and two graduate assistants, with the help of 10 paid aides and 10 volunteer aides.

Members of "Torch" (Teen Organization for Retarded Children) will help out as volunteers, Staudaher said. The TORCH group has worked extensively with handicapped youngsters in various fields of activity, and is well experienced in the work.

The program will include field trips to acquaint the youngsters to the techniques of camping, classroom work and a camp out at a site yet to be designated. The dates for the camp have not been chosen, but firm plans can be made, now that the funds are assured, Staudaher said.

The camp will be the first of its kind for the Twin Falls School District.

Campaign spurs CSI vote

TWIN FALLS — A lengthy campaigning period paid off with probably the heaviest vote ever cast at the College of Southern Idaho in student body elections this week, according to Jack Sims, student affairs director.

A total of 440 students cast votes, electing the joint ticket of Larry Stamps, Hazelton, president, and Bob Taylor, Paul, vice president. Each received 230 votes, running on a single ticket. Their closest competitors, Fred Barga and Gene Cheney, tallied 117 votes, while Jerry Horsley and Walt Johnson were third with 98.

The campaigning period was lengthened a week when the voting was delayed to allow the candidates more time to hustle up votes.

Sophomore senators next year will be Clint Blackwood, Filer, who received 309 votes; Bill Marlow, Buhl, with 250; Dianne Parrott, Twin Falls, 302 votes, and Mark Story, Twin Falls, 282. Dawnna Taylor, of Twin Falls, was elected academic senator with 353 votes.

Arthur B. Tickner, San Mateo, Calif., district manager, said the firm is "pleased at being able to locate a redemption center in Twin Falls to serve Green Stamp savers in the Magic Valley area."

Engineer firms merge

TWIN FALLS — Dale L. Riedesel and John Straubhar, both Twin Falls and partners in Riedesel and Straubhar Engineers, announced today the firm has merged with J-U-B Engineers, Inc., with offices in Boise, Nampa and Ketchum.

Sumner Johnson, Nampa, J-U-B president, said terms of the merger, including establishment of J-U-B offices in Twin Falls, were completed at a recent J-U-B board of directors meeting in Boise.

Riedesel and Straubhar will remain as principals in the Twin Falls office.

Bees are more valuable as pollinators of blossoms than for their production of honey and wax, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica.

LAST-MINUTE CAMPAIGNING paid off handsomely for the new top officers of the College of Southern Idaho student body for 1971-72. Larry Stamps, left, Hazelton, was elected president for the coming year. Bob Taylor, Paul, on right, won the vice presidency. Both entered campaign at the last minute, yet won by nearly a two-to-one margin over their closest competitors.

Roof work bids asked

TWIN FALLS — Trustees of the Twin Falls School District authorized a call for bids for extensive roofing repairs costing nearly $30,000 at Tuesday night's board meeting.

Architect Harald Gerber explained details of the roofing repairs needed at Twin Falls High School and Vera C. O'Leary Junior High School. He estimated the work at O'Leary would amount to about $8,300; repairs to the boiler house at the high school would be $950; repairing leaks in the vocational building would also be $950, and work on the high school roof would total $20,000.

Superintendent Dr. Ernest H. Ragland said the district's plant funds have sufficient money for the project. Two elementary school roof projects, at Morningside and Harrison schools, can wait a

T.F. firm wins audit contract

TWIN FALLS — Donald Rahe, certified public accountant, Twin Falls, was awarded the bid for the 1971 audit of Twin Falls County books Wednesday by the board of county commissioners.

William L. (Bill) Chancey, commission chairman, said the Rahe firm submitted the low bid of $4,500. A second bid was received from Olson Wood and Gambling, Boise. The latter firm handled the 1970 county audit.

A spokesman for the PUC said if granted, the increases would bring Trans-Magic's charges to the same levels as those charged by Hughes Air West for the same flights.

Airline asks hike in fares

TWIN FALLS — Trans-Magic Airlines has requested passenger fare hikes from 12 to 14 per cent on flights between Boise and Idaho Falls and Boise and Pocatello.

One-way fares for both legs would rise to $28 from the current fare of $25. Round-trip fares would increase from $49 to $56.

More Bad News For Nixon

WASHINGTON — Private nationwide surveys taken by pollster Oliver Quayle show that the "economic issue" suddenly and dramatically eclipsed the "social issue" for the first time during the month of March — more bad political news for President Nixon.

If the trend holds, it undercuts plans by key Nixon strategists — including his campaign manager, Atty. Gen. John Mitchell — to revive the law-and-order issue for 1972.

Rather, the poll indicates that Mr. Nixon will have to rely on an improved economy to win next year.

Until March, Quayle's polling had been showing a 50-50 split as to whether voters put more importance on the economic issue ("fighting our way out of the recession; getting the cost of living down; reducing unemployment; lowering taxes") or the social issue ("preserving law and order; doing more to stop crime, drug abuse, demonstrations; disorder; lack of respect for authority; pornography").

But for the year ending April 1, Quayle's cumulative interviews with 2,620 people in seven states show 53 percent more troubled by the economic issue, 47 percent by the social issue. To open by a 6 percentage point gap on a 12-month average, the shift during March had to be huge.

Defeat in the House of an amendment adding $729 million to the education money bill was not only another in an embarrassing string of defeats for Speaker Carl Albert of Oklahoma, but also impaired relations between him and the powerful chairman of the House Appropriation Committee, Rep. George Mahon of Texas.

When the education lobby came up with its big amendment, Mahon, strongly opposing it, went to the Speaker with this appeal: if the House approved the amendment and rolled Mahon's committee on a major money bill this early in the season, it would happen on bill after bill — sending the huge budget deficit into the stratosphere. Would the Speaker support his committee chairman? Mahon later told friends he thought Albert would not actively support the amendment.

But when the vote came up Wednesday, Albert was whipping Democrats — including Oklahoma and Texas Congressmen — into the teller line to pick up green cards for the amendment. In the cloakroom, Mahon was exasperated.

When Mahon beat Albert, 191 to 187, it added one more to the four defeats for Albert and his new leadership team in three months: Rules Committee reform, retention of the interest rate ceiling for government bonds, the SST, wage-and-price controls. On some of these issues (particularly SST), the leadership was passive. But Albert was working hard when he lost on the education money bill Wednesday.

The Doves Flutter

At last the antiwar movement has found an issue it can really dive into — oil. In fact, "a vast lake of oil" supposedly underlying the continental shelf all the way from the coast of Vietnam to New Guinea, a lake rivaling the deposits of the Middle East and making Alaska's North Slope look like a grease spot.

Recent geological reports of potential major deposits have caused a great fluttering of doves and have given rise to the inevitable question:

Is the United States prolonging the Vietnam war in order to protect the interests of the oil industry?

Last year a group called "Another Mother for Peace" swamped the Senate Foreign Relations Committee with more than 10,000 letters calling for public hearings on the question.

Rep. W.R. Anderson, D-Tenn., speculated in the Congressional Record: "Our boys might be dying in Vietnam to pacify that region in order that our U.S. oil companies can reap the billions of dollars that are projected to result from the exploitation of the greatest oil fields of all."

An article in New York's antiestablishment newspaper, The Village Voice, went even further: "If the major oil companies have suspected the existence of rich deposits off Southeast Asia's waters since the early 1950s, then it stands to reason that they must have tried, during the past decade, to lobby for a U.S. foreign policy that would guarantee them stability."

Yet the only U.S. companies actively producing in Southeast Asia are in Indonesia, and not even Peking claims they had anything to do with the overthrow of Communist-flirting President Sukarno.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers has denied that U.S. policy is tied to oil. "We did not even know about these rumors until recently," he stated on March 16.

It's a bum rap, complains the oil industry. Oil has definitely not been discovered, says Oil & Gas Journal. Geologists, some of them working under United Nations auspices, only report that structures which might contain oil fields lie in the Gulf of Thailand and off South Vietnam's Mekong delta.

One prediction that this region will be producing 400 million barrels a day by 1975 — 10 times present world production — is "preposterous," says the journal. Even if the fields were already defined, it is doubtful if the industry could tool up to drill, produce, transport and refine that much added oil in four short years.

The Christian Science Monitor, hardly a prowar or pro-oil organ, suggests that "some of the antiwar groups have made a specious argument on the basis of flimsy evidence, and attempted to associate the war in Vietnam with economic fantasies."

It dismisses the whole thing as a credibility gap in reverse.

Yet in view of estimates that in the next 15 years the world will consume more oil than in all past history, in view of political uncertainties in the Middle East and the problems associated with transporting oil from Alaska, the possibility of oil in vast quantities in Southeast Asia cannot be dismissed — not forever.

But rather than prolong a war or be a reason for war, the oil of Southeast Asia could be one of the world's brightest hopes for peace in coming years. Its development would bring wealth to that impoverished part of the world and could help defuse the volatile Middle East by undercutting the importance of Arab oil.

Unfortunately, as Forbes magazine has noted, oil seems forever fated to be a political mineral.

of the story, our problems would be halfway solved.

"It's up to the parents to be able to help their children whenever necessary. Also for them to recognize their ideas, think them out, and still maintain a firm hand over them. As for the teachers, well, they are doing their part. Students are in the best of hands and could all be brilliant if they would only listen to what the teachers have to say.

"Teachers arrange private conferences with parents to help the students, not to tear them down. Students, you must do your part too. Listen to your parents, they have been around longer than you and know what they are doing. Work to achieve better grades for a change of pace.

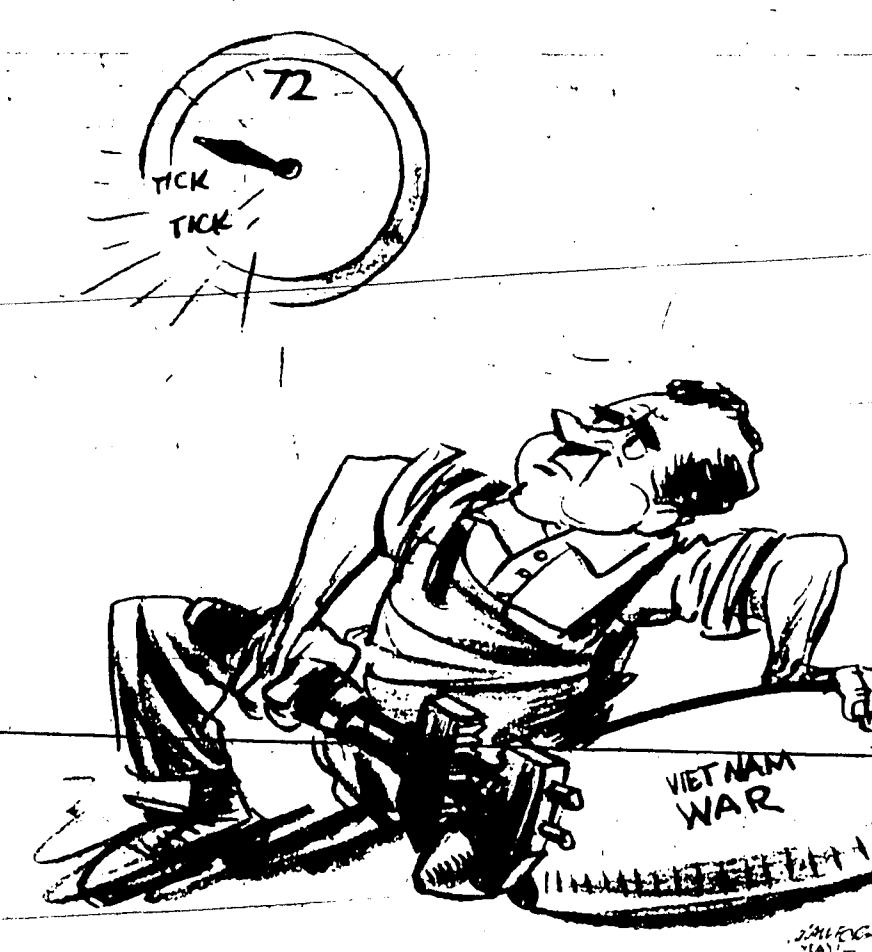

"Let's all do our part to make this community worth living in. Get in and do your share. Good things just don't come at the snap of your fingers."

So there you have it — and all this time Mr. Spectator was under the impression that the PTA and the PTSAs were still a strong organization hereabouts. But the kids don't think so — so what are you parents going to do about it now that the challenge has been made?

Farmer Secret

It's spring planting time. Three months into a new year, the farmer is trying to decide if it's worth it. It is worth it.

The good farmer works hard, but he sleeps well.

America's farmers benefited least from the prosperity of the soaring Sixties.

But they suffered less than many during the recession of the early Seventies.

Country bankers are careful which farmer gets how much, but the credit pinch is less this year than last.

Hogs which brought better than $25 a hundred last July were selling for $15 by December but:

They're uprending again.

Farm taxes are up, but farm land values are up more — averaging 5 per cent a year. Even last year, a recession year, your land value increased 3 per cent.

Net farm income is not going to soar this year; the cost of everything the farmer has to buy is too high but:

Farm exports are up.

There's not yet enough blight-resistant seed for corn farmers. So this year's corn crop will be 20 per cent less but:

Average prices for corn are up 26 per cent from a year ago.

Soybeans up 18 per cent. Even wheat, despite the oversupply, is up 6 per cent.

There's a worrisome trend in American agriculture. Survival requires efficiency, efficiency requires mechanization, mechanization requires money. That means fewer and bigger farms.

Historically this leads to a counterrevolution. When the private land holdings get too gigantic, they invite social upheaval.

Then the mobs in the streets demand that we bust up the big spreads and give each poor peasant his own little parcel, and usually the poor peasant is poor because he's a poor farmer so there we are collectively, equally inefficient again.

And that is the trend. The number of farms right now is 2.9 million less than 11 years ago. And the average farm has increased in size 31 per cent.

But where we now have 211,000 really gigantic factory farms, we have 2.8 million farms that are not.

acres.

That's a long way from the monopolistic concentration of property which justifies revolution.

President Nixon's farm program is imperfect but:

It does give all farmers more freedom to decide what crops they can grow and still be eligible for government payments and price supports.

So of all the worrisome threats to us as a people and as a nation — crime, inflation, pollution — it's on the farm front that we're in the least trouble.

And I hesitate even to mention this next or government will figure some way to put a tax on it. But while no worker works harder, no worker enjoys more intangible, untaxed fringe benefits than the man with his feet in a furrow and his head in the sun.

He has air he can breathe, water he can drink — a vista like nobody's business — and a hunk of earth the value of which is more dependable than gold.

A healthy body, deprived of sufficient water, will hang onto as much of it as it can; that same healthy body, if it gets more than it needs, will readily dispose of the excess.

Thus any "reducing" by means of avoiding water is an artificial, temporary, and in the long run potentially harmful way of losing weight.

There are cases, of course, of the body accumulating too much fluid, and the result is edema, or swelling. In that case, it may be necessary to use medication to help the system get rid of the excess, but that is not actively support the amendment.

But when the vote came up Wednesday, Albert was whipping Democrats — including Oklahoma and Texas Congressmen — into the teller line to pick up green cards for the amendment. In the cloakroom, Mahon was exasperated.

When Mahon beat Albert, 191 to 187, it added one more to the four defeats for Albert and his new leadership team in three months: Rules Committee reform, retention of the interest rate ceiling for government bonds, the SST, wage-and-price controls. On some of these issues (particularly SST), the leadership was passive. But Albert was working hard when he lost on the education money bill Wednesday.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Fattening?

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am on a reducing diet and, to eliminate the extra calories of soft drinks and other beverages, I have been drinking water with my meals.

Water has no calories. Neither does tea or coffee, unless calories are added in the form of sugar or cream. There are also low-calorie soft drinks, of course, if you want some flavoring without adding many calories.

You were right in the first place, but there is a frightening lot of nonsense going around the "I heard" circuit.

Water has no calories, and therefore is not fattening under any conditions. That is not saying that water doesn't weight anything. It does. It weighs quite a bit: one pound per pint.

Some trick reducing diets can achieve an apparent loss of weight by drying out the system by any of a variety of methods, just as prizefighters can "dry out" before weighing in for a fight, to stay below a certain weight limit.

It is also possible for athletes in training to sweat off several pounds in a single afternoon of vigorous training — five to ten pounds is not at all unusual in such activities as football training under a hot sun.

Yet this loss of water-weight is regained again overnight from drinking water (or other liquids) and from foods which contains varying but large amounts of water.

The point is that a healthy body requires a great deal of water, both in the tissues, and flowing through the digestive tract and kidneys to carry off waste products.

A healthy body, deprived of sufficient water, will hang onto as much of it as it can; that same healthy body, if it gets more than it needs, will readily dispose of the excess.

Thus any "reducing" by means of avoiding water is an artificial, temporary, and in the long run potentially harmful way of losing weight.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Frank, I think you ought to prepare yourself — you know, just in case Patton doesn't win!"

Tax data sales hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Firms that prepare income tax returns for wealthier Americans are barred from selling or disclosing personal data. Firms catering to the less affluent are not.

In separate interviews, this situation was acknowledged by Officials of the Internal Revenue Service (IRS), the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) and by tax profession leaders.

The lack of controls on the largest and fastest growing segment of the tax preparation business has prompted an FTC investigation of allegations that some firms sell their clients' names, income figures and other personal information to mailing list houses, stores, insurance companies and others.

Sen. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., R-Md., has introduced legislation to ban such practices.

"It is both ludicrous and alarming to have the IRS holding a tax return in the strictest secrecy while private firms are shipping and selling the same information all over the country without the taxpayer's knowledge and consent," Mathias said.

However, Richard C. Foster, heading the FTC investigation, said the agency discovered it did not need to check law and accounting firms that prepare tax forms for thousands of corporations, executives and others with high incomes.

Headed by lawyers or certified public accountants, these firms are bound by strict ethical codes barring any use or disclosure of a client's tax data. Violators can be punished by their peers or lose their licenses.

H&R and FTC officials said this self-policing system has been in effect for decades and works effectively. But these firms are little known to the general public because their work includes tax appeals and other negotiations with IRS.

Rebuilt 'Queen' sailing

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The Delta Queen is the last overnight paddleboat plying the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers. When she makes her first voyage of 1971 on April 16, she will look much like riverboats of 100 years ago but will carry $500,000 worth of space age hardware.

The Delta Queen was ordered off the rivers last year because her wooden superstructure did not meet federal safety standards. Petitions to save this piece of Americana came from every corner, and the venerable old paddlewheeler was exempted from the 1966 safety-at-sea act—with some conditions.

Since Jan. 4, the Queen has been resting in dry dock at New Orleans, where workers "lifted her skirts and replated over 15 per cent of her iron bottom," according to a spokesman for her owner, Green Line Steamers, Inc.

The Queen received a coating of a fire-retardant paint-like substance, developed and tested by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration which guarantees the boat to be fire-proof.

Other wooden areas of the boat have been scraped free of old paint and resurfaced with fire-retardant Albi 107X intumescent paint.

This paint swells upon exposure to flame and forms a black, carbon-like cushion of insulation that protects the wooden surface from heat and flame.

The Delta Queen's engines were overhauled and all communication equipment aboard has been updated, including bridge-to-engine room and ship-to-shore.

Modernizing, updating and refinishing hasn't taken away any of the Queen's nostalgic, 19th century qualities, however.

The most important hit of nostalgia in evidence on the boat is the calliope.

The original copper and brass whistles are now gold plated and elevated more into view on the roof of the sun deck.

All told, the Queen has absorbed some $500,000 in face-lifting, repairs and improvements. Add to that another half-million dollars in similar improvements over the past three years and you have a figure higher than what it cost to build the Queen.

The IRS prohibits advertising by any firm which practices before it.

Tax preparation firms appealing to the mass market are not under the same restraints, although Foster emphasized the FTC has no evidence that misuse of taxpayers' data is widespread.

With no law or professional code barring these firms from disclosing clients' data, the FTC would have to interpret such practices as inherently unfair or deceptive before it could take action. Foster said no such decision has been made pending completion of the investigation.

T.F. unit tax file private

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls manager of the H and R Block Income Tax Service said today his firm keeps all tax information confidential.

Mrs. H.W. Carr said "All tax information taken from our clients is held in complete confidence. No names, lists or information of any kind are given out without authorization from the clients, she said.

Mrs. Carr said many times the information is needed by the Internal Revenue Service or the client's attorney, but H&R Block will not disclose it until the client gives approval.

She added that the head office in Kansas City recently sent a letter reinforcing the company's policy that all information is to be held in the strictest confidence. Mrs. Carr said "We try very hard to protect our clients."

The Internal Revenue Service is cooperative with the company and its clients she said. Many times the client, the company and the IRS will confer together on a client's return, she said.

Fad words lose punch

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When paper currency is worn out by excessive circulation, the government replaces it with crisp new bills.

It's a pity we can't devise some such system for words.

She added that the head office in Kansas City recently sent a letter reinforcing the company's policy that all information is to be held in the strictest confidence. Mrs. Carr said "We try very hard to protect our clients."

The Internal Revenue Service is cooperative with the company and its clients she said. Many times the client, the company and the IRS will confer together on a client's return, she said.

American Heritage dictionary, this word is properly applied only to a special branch of science concerned with "the relationships between organisms and their environment."

Today it is being bandied about as a catch-all term for any project to combat pollution.

Confrontation. This used to be a fairly useful sociological term for situations in which individuals or groups find themselves in immediate and direct opposition. In its present threadbare state, it is loosely applied to any kind of protest gesture or act of noisy defiance.

Alienation. Accurately used, this fashionable noun refers to a state of estrangement between a person and his family, friends or society. But it has become an all-purpose description for the mood of modern youth. If you want to sound contemporary, you must never speak of young people as being restless, discontented, impatient or obstreperous. They are "alienated."

Establishment. Serious writers on socio-political subjects once found this a convenient shorthand word for an exclusive group of powerful people who exercise backstage control over a nation or a particular field of human endeavor. Today everybody uses it to refer to anyone who has any degree of authority or influence whatever.

Polarization. This is what happens to a society when alienated members of the counter-culture find themselves in confrontation with upright members of the establishment. It means they don't get along too well together.

Yemen war may expand

BEIRUT (UPI) — Hardly noticed in the outside world except for international strategists, a small war rages in the Peoples Democratic Republic of Yemen (PDRY) on the south east coast of the Arabian Peninsula.

The war has crackled away for three years and seems likely to intensify. On its outcome may turn global strategic and economic interests, the Soviet Union's thrust toward the Indian Ocean, Communist Chinese efforts to penetrate the Middle East, Western access to rich oil supplies and the future of pro-Western regimes in the region.

The fighting began even before the British left Aden in November, 1967. Out of a welter of contending forces the country became first the Peoples Republic of Southern Yemen and later the Peoples Democratic Republic of Yemen. Guerrilla movements have sprung up and are trying to topple the PDRY regime, which they say is Communist. The guerrillas are army officers and soldiers purged from military ranks by the PDRY's ruling National Liberation Front (NLF) and warrior tribesmen who have joined the rebels.

The rebels come under two leaderships.

One group calls itself the "Army of Deliverance." It operates close to the Saudi Arabian frontier. Its "Radio Free South," broadcasts steady denunciations of the regime in Aden.

The other group is composed of former members of the Front for the Liberation of Occupied Southern Yemen (FLOSY), the Aden party which was the NLF's chief rival before independence, the banned South Arabian League party of Aden and purged army officers and men led by the former South Yemen commander-in-chief, Col. Hussein Othman Aashal.

These combined to form the Organization of National Forces for Southern Yemen. Its leaders live in Sanaa, capital of neighboring Yemen. Its guerrillas carry out hit-and-run raids close to Aden. The Yemen government is either powerless to stop them or looks the other way.

Against the rebels stand the PDRY's 10,000 man army, 5,000 internal security troops and a few hundred NLF militia. Military experts say they are well trained, by Middle East standards, and well armed with Soviet weapons from Kalashnikov assault rifles to MIG jet fighters. Reports from Aden say the Soviet Union has increased arms shipments in recent months. Motorists on an Aden highway see the arms unloaded in broad daylight onto a former British admiralty pier.

But King Feisal of Saudi Arabia is reported determined to oust the PDRY regime in Aden at any cost, or at least keep it so weak it cannot threaten him and other pro-Western rulers. Saudi Arabian aid to the Yemen royalists kept the war there boiling eight years, until the Yemen Republic's Egyptian allies went home and the government lost its revolutionary zeal.

Vote rule endangered

BOISE (UPI) — An assistant attorney general's opinion released Wednesday said the U.S. Supreme Court will probably strike down the requirement of a two-thirds majority vote in bond elections.

Assistant Attorney General Dwight Board said, in view of recent Supreme Court decisions — particularly those concerning property owners' rights requirements for bond elections — the court appears to be following a trend which would make it feel the two-thirds requirement "debases the vote of an affirmative voter and is offensive to the principle of 'one man, one vote.'"

In an opinion written for Rep. Lloyd Dunn, R-Georgetown, chairman of the Water Pollution Control Advisory Council, Board said he understood a lawsuit would be instituted in Paris, Idaho, challenging Idaho's constitutional and statutory two-thirds requirements in order to keep the controversies

If that is done, Board said, Paris would be in a position to take advantage of the U.S. Supreme Court ruling "in the event it is as we expect." Board noted the Idaho Supreme Court in 1970 upheld the constitutional and statutory two-thirds requirement.

However, he said, the Idaho case, along with two similar cases from West Virginia and California, is presently under consideration by the U.S. Supreme Court. He said the cases were argued several months ago and said a decision on the question should be handed down in the near future.

Rights unit hits Nixon policies

DETROIT (UPI) — The Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) will conduct a "massive voter registration drive in black and poor communities" to bring about the defeat of President Nixon in 1972, the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy said Wednesday.

Abernathy told a news conference that the SCLC board of directors "feel very firmly that an administration that appropriates billions of dollars for the moon and pennies for the poor is an administration that should be replaced in 1972."

The SCLC held its spring board meeting in Detroit to "plan our future program and our future thrust," said Abernathy, the SCLC president.

The SCLC will give top priority, he said, to battling

"racism, war, and poverty in addition to that unemployment and underemployment, the lack of administration of justice in the country, the lack of quality education in our public schools and an unjust welfare system."

"The conference has also rededicated itself to its program of politics 1971-72 in which we will engage in a massive voter registration program and voter education programs in which we hope to bring about a whole change in the political arena," Abernathy said.

Asked if there was internal dissension within the SCLC over tactics and leadership, Abernathy said: "If there is any tension within the SCLC it was created by the media."

He said he doesn't "want to agree with Vice President

Agnew on anything, but he was right when he spoke out against the news media."

"We are all together and we don't worry one bit what you all think," he said.

Ural blast radiation escapes

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Radioactivity leaking from an underground nuclear explosion in Russia's Ural Mountains was detected in Sweden last week, the National Defense Research Institute said Wednesday.

The research institute said it had determined that the leak originated from an underground nuclear bomb that was triggered in the Urals March 23.

The seismological institute in Uppsala, which recorded the March explosion, said it was the biggest blast carried out in the area.

The radioactivity measured in the air during the period March 31 to April 2 was twice or nearly three times as high as normal in middle and southern Sweden, the research institute said. On April 5 the level was unchanged but later receded and disappeared.

The institute said that the radioactivity did not constitute any risk.

The 1963 International Test Ban Treaty permits underground nuclear explosions provided that no radioactivity leaks into the atmosphere.

Rail service hearing slated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Legislation co-sponsored by Idaho's senators to guarantee meaningful rail passenger service in the 48 contiguous states will get a hearing later this month from the Senate Commerce Committee.

In a response to a letter signed by Idaho Sens. Frank Church and Len Jordan and senators from other states which would lose rail passenger service under the Railpax system, Sen. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., chairman of the committee, said he had tentatively scheduled the hearings for the end of April.

Final dates for the hearings have not been scheduled.

Church, Jordan and the other senators had urged Magnuson to hold the hearings after the Department of Transportation determined the final composition of the new Railpax system.

Seven states, including Idaho, will be left without any significant form of rail passenger service under the Railpax system.

The only stop authorized for Idaho was in Sandpoint, in the northern portion of the state, while all of southern Idaho would be left without any form of rail passenger operations.

The institute said that the radioactivity did not constitute any risk.

Ruling rapped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administrator of the Idaho Transportation Council argued Tuesday against a Department of Transportation Council ruling that prohibits interstate truck driving by anyone under the age of 21.

R. L. Henry, speaking before a U.S. Department of Transportation hearing, said young farm truck drivers in Idaho and Eastern Oregon have an excellent safety record. He produced records to back his claim.

Henry testified the new regulations severely hamper drivers in Idaho, where many farmers are located in border areas and are technically involved in interstate trucking.

Vanguard name of new spring barley

MOSCOW — Vanguard is the name given to a newly released two-row spring barley.

It is recommended as a replacement for the variety Pioline and is especially suited to the higher rainfall areas of eastern Washington and similar areas of Idaho and Oregon, according to Dr. Floyd Frank, acting associate director at the University of Idaho Agricultural Experiment Station.

The new barley was released as well as Pioline is about equal in test weight, and heads about the same time as Pioline and two or three days earlier than Heines Hanna.

Furthermore, Vanguard may have better malting quality than Pioline, although one more year's data is needed. The new variety emerges equally as well as Pioline is about equal in test weight, and heads about the same time as Pioline and two or three days earlier than Heines Hanna.

The straw strength of Vanguard is slightly better than Pioline and much better than Heines Hanna. Straw length is medium and about the same as Pioline and slightly shorter than Heines Hanna. It is now designated as a feed barley because it has not been approved yet as a malting barley by the Malting Barley Improvement Association.

About 45,000 pounds of seed have been distributed to foundation seed growers this year, and commercial production of 50,000 is expected in 1972.

Market Review

Thursday, April 15, 1971 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 9

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks were strong in heavy turnover as trading rounded the halfway mark Thursday.

Advances topped declines by around 275 issues near 1:15 p.m., while the Dow Jones industrial average was ahead 7.80 at 940.35. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index rose 0.37 to 103.74.

A three-hour volume of 14,710,000 shares compared with 12,000,000 shares traded at a comparable period on Wednesday.

Analysts attributed the market's strength to improved economic news, good gains in some quality stocks, and the sudden easing of tensions between the United States and Communist China.

Among the day's most active issues were Uniroyal up 1% on 515,600 shares, Eastern Air Lines 5% higher on 359,800 shares, Kimberly-Clark up 4% on 150,800 shares, and Atlas Chemical Industries 1% higher on 139,400 shares.

Atlas Chemical soared 9% points Thursday after ICI America, the American unit of Britain's Imperial Chemical Industries, agreed to acquire Atlas.

Less active Westinghouse gained around 3. Earlier this week, the firm reported higher first quarter earnings.

General Motors topped its group with a gain of 1%. The auto industry reported record early April car sales.

Heyburn council drafts non-burning ordinance

By JERRY HERRMANN
Times-News Correspondent
HEYBURN — Heyburn City Council Wednesday night authorized City Attorney Tom Church to draw up a non-burning ordinance for the city and to have it prepared by the council's May meeting.

This action was taken after Stan Peters, Heyburn resident, asked the council if it was true the city was going to have a non-burning law by May 1.

He told the council: "We have got paper and trash blowing around now. Will we be buried under it when this ordinance goes into effect?"

Mayor Harold R. Hurst told Peters that the council would let the city's residents know when the ordinance goes into effect. Leo Handy, another Heyburn resident, told the council he had bought a stove last year to burn his garbage and to take care of the excess found blowing around his lawn.

The council also discussed a non-burning ordinance drawn up by the state for it. It decided there were some good parts in it but some of it was too technical for any of the councilmen to understand.

One provision in it, which would require any resident of Heyburn to get a burning permit before any burning can be done, was liked by the mayor and council.

Councilman Bob Hambleton, said he thought the council had planned on having a non-burning ordinance in effect by May 1. "That date is nearly on us. But we could have one in effect by June 1," he said.

The rest of the council agreed that it was behind its effort to get a non-burning ordinance for the city.

The council then directed Church to draw up a non-burning ordinance for the city. Copies of the ordinance are to be sent to councilmen so they may study it and recommend any changes they want by the council's May meeting.

The rest of the council agreed that it was behind its effort to get a non-burning ordinance for the city.

In conjunction with the non-burning ordinance, the council discussed what effect this would have on the amount of garbage to be picked up.

Mayor Hurst asked councilman Earl Rose, who is in charge of the city's sanitation program, if the city now had a set garbage pickup schedule.

Rose said there didn't seem to be one at present. However, he agreed with the mayor that one should be set up.

He also informed the council that he has talked with another garbage service that has offered to pick up the city's garbage two times a week for the same price as the present hauler wants to collect garbage in the city once a week.

The two pickups would be made during the week days if this was okay with the council, Rose said. He then asked other members of the council if the city was going to two times a week garbage pickup service.

Councilman Hambleton said even though he burned all of his garbage, he thought the remains would more than fill two 30-gallon containers in two weeks.

Garbage in Heyburn is now picked up once every two weeks. The council had proposed to go once a week service.

The mayor told Rose to tell the present hauler to continue to pick up the city's garbage once every two weeks until the council decides what steps to take.

COMPLICATIONS DEVELOPED for Bruce Carter, Twin Falls, when he returned a plow he borrowed from a neighbor. The tractor pulling the plow ran away, the driver said, crashed into a 130 gallon gasoline tank mounted on wooden supports, and pushed the tank into a parked car of Dwight Shaw, owner of the plow and gasoline tank. Damage from the "neighborly act" was estimated by sheriff's officers at several hundred dollars.

Almo soldier wounded

ALMO — Spec. 4 Paul S. Tracy has been wounded in action in South Vietnam, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert F. Tracy, Almo.

Spec. Tracy is a medic in the U. S. Army and has been stationed at a forward fire base near the Laotian border. He was with the 101st Airborne Division.

He has undergone surgery twice at the 95th evacuation hospital in DaNang, South Vietnam, and is presently in the U. S. Naval Hospital, Guam.

Tracy entered the service Dec. 8, 1969, was stationed at Ft. Lewis, Wash.; Ft. Sam Houston, Tex., and Ft. Jackson, S. C., prior to shipping overseas Jan. 9. While he was stationed at Ft. Jackson he was named Soldier of the Month.

His wife, Anna B. Tracy, is making her home in Columbia, S. C., while her husband is overseas.

Hansen school budget aired

HANSEN — The Hansen school board has proposed a budget of $201,173, some $11,000 more than last year's budget, Supt. William Barnard said today.

Hearing on the new budget will be held at 8 p.m. May 4 and copies of the budget are available at the school office.

Trustees have scheduled a three mill maintenance and operation levy election for May 24. This three mills was approved by voters last year, but must be approved yearly, Barnard said.

The trustee election will be held May 10, with both incumbents, Robert Pettygrove and Everett Norris, seeking re-election. Nominating petitions must be filed with Cecil Stanger, school board clerk, by April 22.

Board members will meet at 8 p.m. Monday to discuss legislative action. Trustees have approved sending Supt. Barnard to the state superintendents' meeting in Boise, April 29-30 and it was reported the new dishwashing equipment has been installed in the lunchroom.

The trustee election will be held May 10, with both incumbents, Robert Pettygrove and Everett Norris, seeking re-election. Nominating petitions must be filed with Cecil Stanger, school board clerk, by April 22.

Latin mart uncertain

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—The Central American Common Market, once an ideal example of economic integration among developing nations, faces an uncertain future after the election in March of a strong nationalist as the new president of Honduras.

Honduras, which formed a common market with Guatemala, Costa Rica, Nicaragua and El Salvador in 1962, withdrew from the regional pact last December, complaining it was getting the worst of the deal. Now the president-elect of Honduras, Dr. Ramon Ernesto Cruz, has asserted his government will not seek re-entry into the common market for at least another three years, leaving the four other members no choice but to go it alone.

The five tiny Central American countries were one in the 19th century and the dream of their reuniting—politically as well as economically into a single nation about the size of Morocco was at the heart of the decision to form a common market less than 10 years ago.

With a common history and language and similar economic problems, the five were able to make enormous headway in the first years of the pact. While the Latin American Free Trade Association (LAFTA) was floundering, the Central American Common Market was being used as a model for economic groupings in Africa and Asia.

Between 1963 and 1969, trade among the five countries increased from 12 per cent to 30 per cent of total imports, from a value of $71 million to $260 million. Within the market almost all tariff barriers were dropped, while the region's new industries enjoyed protection from outside competition by high import duties.

A market of some 10 million people was created out of the jigsaw of Central American republics. Efforts were made to elaborate common labor laws and banking regulations and a single regional currency did not seem far off.

But while new industries sprang up and the economic growth of the market averaged 7 per cent in the mid-1960s, none of the countries instituted significant social reform in order to share the new benefits among their fast-growing populations.

Although the four remaining members met in January and agreed to press on without Honduras, there was an understanding that much would depend on the March 31 Honduran elections, particularly since opposition candidate Jorge Bueso Arias had promised to return Honduras to the common market if elected. But he lost to national party candidate Cruz and the outlook for the market remains bleak.

Historical society

plans "Hoedown"

RUPERT — A Western Hoedown, which will include a show and dance, has been set for May 1 at Rupert Civic Auditorium.

All proceeds will be donated to the Minidoka County Historical Society. The public is invited.

The dance and program are being spearheaded by Grover Newman and Bill Whittom, both Rupert City councilmen.

The entertainment part of the evening will begin at 8 p.m. and last about one and one-half hours and the dance will follow.

Matty Shaw, Corral, will be one of the entertainers and several members of the Old-Time Fiddlers are expected at the event. Western groups from Magic Valley are being contacted at this time, according to Whittom.

The civic auditorium is being donated by the city of Rupert and the sound equipment is being donated by Don and Jim's TV, Rupert.

Newman is in charge of the ticket sales and the tickets will be available from the Minidoka County Historical Society officers, Newman, Whittom, and at the door.

"History in our county needs to be preserved, and to do this it takes many, many hours of volunteer service of the local residents and finances," Newman said. The Western Hoedown is an effort to assist with the finances of the historical society," he added.

A girl, 14, said she started at 11 because "I got bored." The youngsters wanted to break the habit because it was getting expensive and, they said, affected their health. A girl, 13, said she smoked a full pack of filter tips a day and that she was "nervous all the time."

Phillip Rayher will direct Little Theatre production

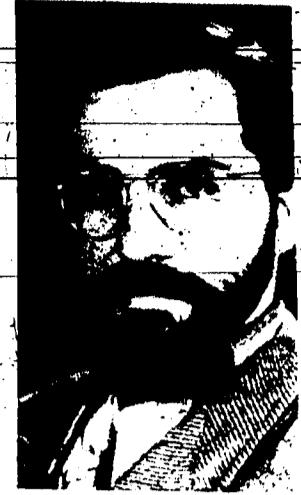

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley Little Theatre members have selected Phillip Brian Rayher, CSI-Drama-Department, to direct their fourth production planned for early summer in Twin Falls.

Buzz Langdon, president of the group, said the production selection is now being made and will be announced soon.

Rayher's latest directing experience is "Twelfth Night," the current College of Southern Idaho production. He has directed nine other dramas, including several for California colleges.

He is currently technical director and designer for the CSI Speech and Drama Department and has served as technical assistant at the Monterey Peninsula College, Drama Department and makeup designer for the Shakespeare Festival of Colorado.

Rayher has performed in the summer stock at the Pink Garter Theatre, Jackson, Wyo., and has played a number of lead rolls in Shakespeare and other drama offerings at San Francisco State College, for Interplayers Theatre, Playhouse Repertoire Theatre and the San Leandro Fine Arts Works Shop and Sonoma State College Opera workshop.

Rayher received his B.A. degree in 1967 and his M.A. degree in 1969 from the San Francisco State College with a major in drama. He served as an instructor at San Francisco State College and at Monterey Peninsula College, California before coming to Twin Falls as assistant professor in the speech and drama department.

Theologian gives views on praying

NEW YORK, N.Y. — "I don't think you have to believe in God to pray," states Harvard theology professor Harvey Cox in the current issue of Pageant. There are other ways to pray, the noted author of "The Secular City" suggests in the magazine, than merely kneeling in a church with your hands folded or chanting together in a temple on Saturday afternoon. "Prayer doesn't necessarily have to involve words," Cox explains. "Believing in God can be an extremely complex, highly intellectual thing. Arguments for and against the existence of God will go on forever. Therefore, we cannot limit prayer to a conversation with a supernatural being called God. That picture of a funny kind of conversation, where the other person doesn't answer, is no longer intellectually credible."

Cox feels that people have a religious instinct even if they stop going to church. He points out in the Pageant article that in Buddhism, for example, where the distinction between prayer and meditation is not very great, religion is a way in which you relate to everything that is serious, mystical and insightful. Sunday afternoon reception set during CSI student art display

TWIN FALLS — The annual student art display at the College of Southern Idaho will open with a reception Sunday afternoon in the Fine Arts Center, according to art instructor Michael Green.

Students of CSI art classes, both full-time and part-time, will put a wide variety of work on display, ranging from oil and other media painting to sculpture and pottery. Students will also place some of their work on sale during Sunday's reception, and some of the artwork on display will carry price tags, Green said.

The display will be open to the public in the lobby of the Fine Arts Center until May 10.

Sunday's reception will begin at 1 p.m. and continue to 4 p.m., Green said. Slides of a student trip to San Francisco will be shown during the reception.

This year's display may well be the finest on record, with 40 to 50 students' planning to display their work, Green said.

Convention scheduled

WENDELL — The Fourth District convention of the American Legion Auxiliary is scheduled for Sunday at the Wendell American Legion Hall, beginning with registration at 1 p.m.

Plans were drawn up for the convention at the April auxiliary meeting in Wendell. A luncheon will follow the registration at 1:30 p.m. with business meetings to follow. New auxiliary officers will be elected and installed during the afternoon.

A social hour will follow the business meeting.

Several Idaho department officials are expected to attend, including Commander Dan McClintock and President Rhea Smith.

Grange plans pancake supper

KING HILL — Plans for a pancake supper were made during a meeting Tuesday evening of the King Hill Grange.

Frank Jones, grange master, said the event will be held April 27 and members with birthday anniversaries in January, February, March and April will be honored at that time.

Jones also reported on the progress of the Three Island Park dedication to be held June 18-19. He said the Glens Ferry Moose Lodge will help the Grange in barbecuing the meat for the affair.

It was announced the Elmore County Pomona Grange will meet May 3 at the Mariposa Grange in Mountain Home. The grange held a workday Tuesday in the grange hall, following the completion of a new ceiling by Rollin McKeith.

Mrs. Joel Young and Mrs. Denver Allred were named to a committee to draft a protest to Idaho congressmen on the curtailment of passenger rail service from Pocatello to Portland through Southern Idaho.

An Easter program was conducted by Mrs. Young, lecturer.

When house plants become dusty put them in bathtub, spray and wash leaves gently. Then leave in tub until excess water drains off.

Lodge plans garage sale May 14 and 15

HANSEN — The Royal Neighbor Lodge Finance Committee made plans for a garage sale during the Tuesday night meeting at Woodman Hall.

The sale is set from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. May 14 and 15 at the hall. Anyone having articles for the sale are asked to leave them with Mrs. Jessie Calico.

It was reported Mrs. Cloe Weech is recovering from surgery at a San Diego hospital.

A report was given on the planning board meeting held in Shoshone for the Crescent District convention set June 5 in Bellevue, with the Halley camp as host unit. The Hansen camp will participate in the floor work with the retiring march and some of the drills.

"Old clothes bundles" distributed to the members are to be remodeled and items worn to the next meeting. Prizes for the three funniest or most unusual outfits will be awarded.

Mrs. Calico and Mrs. Madge Panting were members of the entertainment committee, with Mrs. Wayne Smith and Lydia Mae Pyron as hostesses. Huge Sanderson and Mrs. A. F. Daw were officers pro tem.

The next meeting is set April 27, with Mrs. Sanderson as hostess.

MARILYN MILLER

Miss Miller, Thorton name date

HAILEY — Mr. and Mrs. John F. Miller, Hailey, reveal the marriage plans of their daughter, Marilyn, who will wed Kim L. Thorton, son of Victor L. Thorton, Sun Valley, and Mrs. Duane Cutting, Delavan, Wis., June 19 in Delavan.

Miller is a 1967 graduate of Wood River High School and attended Idaho State University. She is currently employed in Delavan.

Thorton was graduated from Delavan-Darien High School and will receive his bachelor's degree from the University of Wisconsin in June.

Centers are located in Twin Falls, Idaho Falls, Boise, Lewiston and Coeur d'Alene. The Twin Falls center provides services to Shoshone, Jerome, Gooding, Fairfield, Rupert, Burley and Twin Falls.

The girls included Claudette DeWitt, Debbie Sievers, Cherri Sievers, Shelly Andreason, Tammy Holland, Jeri Davis, Teresa DeWitt, Vicki Davis, Brenda Brauberger, Susan DeWitt, Kathy Hatt and Holly Robinson.

Through the proceeds of the Easter Seal fund raising campaign, the handicapped are assisted.

Wash wisely

NEW YORK (UPI) — A wig made of synthetic "hair" can sometimes go for as long as three months without washing. But when you do wash it, according to authorities in the wig industry, use cool water for sudsing and for rinsing. Other instructions:

Wash the wig with a mild soap — baby shampoo or one of the cold water soaps will do.

Singing Mothers concert set Friday

GOODING — The LDS Singing Mothers of the Gooding Stake will present a concert at 8 p.m. Friday at the Jerome Stakehouse.

The theme of the concert will be "Songs To Remember" and will feature patriotic and religious tunes, as well as a medley of old love songs.

Wards participating in the state concert include Glenna Ferry, Hagerman, Gooding, Wendell, Jerome and Hazelton. About 50 women will participate in the event, all dressed in white blouses accented with blue corsages, and full-length black skirts.

Practice began for the concert in January, with Singing Mothers meeting every Friday in Jerome, as well as holding practices in the individual wards.

Conducting the concert will be Lucilia Merkley, Jerome.

Accompanist will be Virgie Packer, Jerome.

Let's hear it with MAICO.

TWIN FALLS — Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet Friday at 2 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Charles E. Calvert, 530 4th Ave. W., with Mrs. Lillian Rayborn, president, in charge of the meeting. Refreshments will be served.

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley District of Garden Clubs will meet for a luncheon and meeting Saturday, April 17, at the Colonial Room of the Rogerson Hotel at 12:30 p.m. Officers will be elected. A film will be shown of selected floral arrangements by Idaho State Federated Garden Clubs.

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Auxiliary members will sew pinkies Friday at 9 a.m. at the hospital.

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley Military Wives will meet Saturday evening in Jerome at the home of Alice Stockton. Wives of servicemen who are interested in the group are invited to meet at the MacDonald residence on Lincoln Street at 7 p.m. for transportation to this meeting which will feature a salad potluck.

SHOSHONE — The fourth in a series of card parties will be held at 8 p.m. April 16 at the Wood River Center Grange Hall, North Shoshone. Mrs. Clifton Dayley, women's activity chairman, said a grand prize will be given to the finalists. Proceeds from the donations will be used for the women's projects.

TWIN FALLS — The Oldtime Fiddlers and their families will meet for a jam session at 1:30 p.m. Sunday at the DAV Hall, corner of Shoup and Harrison. Any one playing a stringed instrument or interested in oldtime music is welcome to attend. Bring sandwiches or cookies.

DEAR ABBY: Many widows and divorcees wonder why they are seldom invited to parties with mixed couples, but they are always welcome if it's a "hen party" or if some woman's husband is out of town.

I can tell them why. Because most married women are selfish and jealous. They don't want a single female near their husbands. I know this because my wife is guilty of this jealousy and selfishness.

My wife's younger sister became widowed six years ago. She had a 3-year-old son. She came over often with her little boy, and they were always welcome. The boy and I became great pals. About a year ago, this sister in law and her boy stopped coming over. I also noticed that my wife's whole family turned cool toward me. At a family gathering, I learned from the boy, who is now nine, that my wife had told her sister that I did not want her coming over so much.

I was shocked and told my wife I was going to tell her sister that I never said any such thing.

My wife said, "Go ahead. It won't do you any good. Blood is thicker than water."

What is your advice?

DEAR VICTIM: Tell the sister! [You may find out first hand how thick blood is.]

DEAR ABBY: I need some information. My father beats me for no reason at all until he leaves marks on my back. I want to know how I can take legal action against him. I would also like to know the earliest age I could join the Navy. I am a 15-year-old boy and I don't think I can live with this for three more years. Thank you. NEEDS ADVICE

DEAR NEEDS: If there is a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children in your area, get in touch with them. Also, inquire about counseling services thru the local Department of Welfare, and report your plight to them. A clergyman could help you. So could your local police or sheriff's office. No child has to put up with physical abuse.

DEAR ABBY: I am no letter writer, but the letter from the young girl with the hair growing at the end of her nose prompts me to write this.

Please tell her that whatever she does, she should not pull that hair out! My husband had exactly the same problem and he foolishly pulled the hair out. It grew back again, and he kept pulling it out. The result was cancer! Believe me, the scar left by the surgery is far worse than any hair could be. The doctor said that the tissue in the area of the nose is far more susceptible to infection and difficult to heal than tissue anywhere else, and if a hair is growing in that area, cut it off near the root, but never pull it out.

MRS. H.

DEAR MRS. H.: Thank you for writing. Many others [including doctors] wrote to say the same.

DEAR ABBY: I wonder if the women who forbid their husbands to go to a nude girlie show have ever seen one themselves?

I and nine other girls gave a bachelorette party for a girl soon to be married. Later in the evening we decided it would be fun to hit a few nude girlie shows. Believe me, the novelty soon wore off. When you've seen one, you've seen 'em all! Besides, when the customers saw 10 nicely dressed girls walk in, we got more attention than the nude girls bumping and grinding for all they were worth on the stage!

After seeing one of these shows myself, I will never forbid my husband to see one.

GLAD I WENT

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 2070, Los Angeles, Calif. 90020. For a personal reply, enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

TWIN FALLS — A dance will be held from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturday at the Twin Falls Moose Hall for Moose members and their guests. Cieland Cut-Ups band will provide the dance music.

SHOSHONE — Officers will be elected at the PTA meeting, to be held at 8 p.m. Monday at the Lincoln School Cafeteria. Mrs. Floyd Kisling, Dietrich, state PTA president, will install the newly elected officers. Mrs. Kisling will also explain the Parent-Teacher-Student Association the local unit is considering for next year. Junior and Senior room representatives will serve as hostesses.

TWIN FALLS — Royal Neighbor Lodge will meet at 8 p.m. Friday at the IOOF Hall.

OES observes obligation night

TWIN FALLS — The regular meeting of Twin Falls Chapter No. 29, Order of Eastern Star, was held Tuesday evening, with Marian Jenkins, worthy matron, and Craig Graybill, worthy patron, presiding.

Announcement was made of the death in Portland, Ore., of Emma Clouche, a charter member of the chapter. The worthy matron and Myrul Clarke, past matron, recalled memories of their acquaintance with Mrs. Clouche. Announcement was made that Bethel No. 43, International Order of Job's Daughters, will honor Masons and Eastern Stars at their meeting April 22.

Farewell talks were given by Mrs. Jenkins and Graybill, who were honored for their year's service with a candlelight ceremony conducted by the other officers. They expressed their thanks for the cooperation of officers and members during the past year.

The chapter voted to hold open installation at the next regular meeting, Tuesday, April 27. The public is invited to attend.

Refreshments were served by a committee headed by Betty Sharp, and assisted by Neoma Shouse, Tom Shouse, Erma Scott, Helen Thorne, Grace Thompson, Ruby Wyatt, Beulah York and Rule Tugaw.

Cape caper

The cape caper — with a short story underneath — was Erika Elias' contribution to the Design America collection for Hooker Chemical's Rucaire fabrics. The cape and short shorts jumper suit were done in bright yellows, blues and greens. The print was hearts and flowers.

TWIN FALLS — Members of Moscow.

According to Mrs. J.L. Lawson, state civic development chairman, entries in brochure form will be judged at Boise and the winning brochures sent to Atlantic Richfield Corporation in Los Angeles.

Mrs. T.W. Hicks, club civic beautification chairman, was assisted by Mrs. Dale E. Patterson, Mrs. Kenneth Hodder and Mrs. S.W. Smith.

Tree
plantings
explained

BURLEY. — Some residents of the Burley area should have good luck with their tree plantings this year.

A small handful attended the first windbreak school in this area this week. Vernon Burlison, Moscow, extension forester, outlined the type of care tree seedlings need, how to plant them and some hints on what to do if they don't survive.

Burlison said if they have a problem with some of their plantings to let him or G.
Douglas Pittman, assistant area supervisor, forest management with the Department of Public Lands at Idaho Falls, know.

"If we can't solve the problem we will get someone down to help you with your problem," he said.

"A large number of people get enthusiastic about planting trees but fail to get the trees up to the desired stage. After working with tree planting for about 25 years I can name about all the causes of tree failures," he said.

He also said that he is getting the point where he will be able to do a study on the causes of failures in tree plantings.

A tour of 21 plantings in seven counties in Idaho last year showed the need for such a study, he said.

Out of the 21 plantings there were only three that could be called highly successful, he said. About 50 per cent were complete failures, and seven or eight plantings located like they should have had the proper attention and management is given them, he said.

Burlison said a tree has to have good care and management as young animals need.

"For some reason trees are considered being different.
Lots of people think that once the tree is in the ground they can take care of themselves.
This is a false assumption," he
said.

He also pointed out that trees need care just as any other crop or animal does. He also said that trees can't compete with weeds and can't stand the abuse the animals give them.

A person's first concern should be to get them planted as soon as possible. The best way, Burlison said, is through the use of a machine. The Soil Conservation Service has some available.

How trees are planted in should be dug deep enough so that the roots aren't tangled up in it.

Also, when planting he said the trees' roots must be kept moist and water can be used around the plants if a person doesn't let it wash off the dirt around the tree roots.

Also, it is important that trees be placed the proper distance from each other. Rows should be at least 10 feet apart and trees should be planted about 12 feet apart in the rows.

By hand, Burlison said, a good man can plant 500-600 trees a day by hand. With machines two men can plant about 10,000 trees per day.

He then gave a list of dos and don'ts. They are:

— Site should be well prepared.

— If trees are in bundles out of sun and keep them moist if not planting right away.

— When planting, don't keep trees out of a pile long. The roots will dry out.

— Get trees into the ground as close to the level as they were planted in the nursery. Keep within one-half inch of that mark if possible.

— Don't have holes too shallow or too deep.

— If planting by hand, watch that air pocket isn't left around the tree roots.

He also said young trees in sandy soils need water every week in the summer. An interval of about every 10 days should be adequate in other soils, he said.

Also, when trees become more mature seedlings can be planted in the area between the tree. And when dividing the area a person should see which trees will be the soil loves and will not ride over them.

Burlison also told prospective tree owners they will have to control the weeds. Some domestic weeds, like dandelions, will grow and overtake the evergreen trees.

Burlison also said prospective

Now that the honeymoon is over even the fair Juliet cannot restrain herself occasionally from a wifely comment. She took Romeo's hand out of the board, looked it over carefully and murmured, "Romeo, Romeo, wherefore has thou not raised by suit, Romeo?"

Romeo, who was looking at the next hand, did not answer. When the game was over he showed her that his plus 130 for making four diamonds undoubtless was an absolute top score.

Club bidders had all reached six or failed to find the way to make five. Romeo on the other hand had really given diamonds a magnificent play and deserved his top.

The first three tricks were a heart to the ace, a trump to West's ace and a second heart to dummy's king. Now Romeo ruffed a third heart to get to his hand and led a second one of his trump equals. West won and led a fourth heart which Romeo trumped. He led his high trump and didn't worry when East showed out. He would make the hand anyway.

He led a club toward dummy. West couldn't afford to trump and now Romeo played ace of spades, ruffed a spade and led another club. It didn't matter if West trumped or discarded, Juliet's club and spade king were sure to win tricks.

Early spade leads would have defeated the contract, but once the defense got started on hearts, Romeo was home.

CARD Sense

The bidding has been:

West North East South
 Pass 2 ♦ Pass 3 ♦
 Pass 4 ♦ Pass ?
 You, South, hold:
 ♦ A K Q J 4 ♦ K J 3 2 ♦ 6 5 ♦ 2

What do you do now?

A—Pass. A further bid would almost surely get you too high.

TODAY'S QUESTION

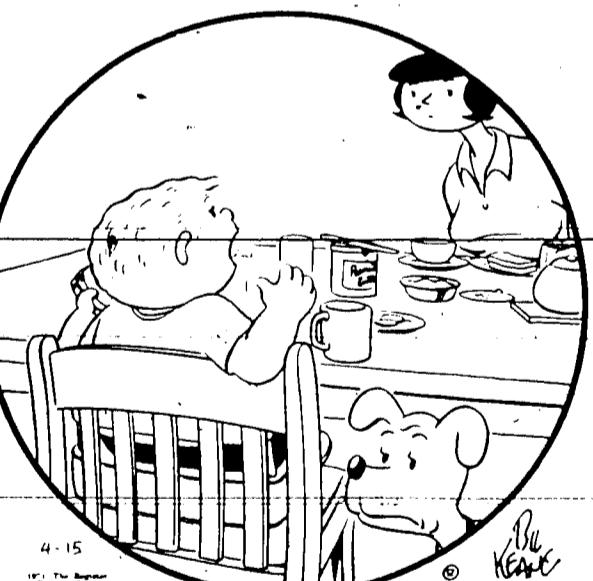

Instead of bidding four spades, your partner has bid four hearts over your three spades. What do you now?

FAIREST of all the beauty contests is the competition sponsored by the press photographers. That's the claim of an advertising man with inside information. Girls in the other shows, he says, must be photogenic to win. After the brouhaha each such queen is expected to be photographed as many as 20,000 times. If a young lady's charm is not the sort to be caught by the camera, her chances are nil. But that point is rarely made public.

WHAT, YOU can't rattle off every single one of those 21 states with names that end in the letter A? All right, how about the five that end in the letter F? . . . "DOES ANYBODY ever really get killed by lightning?" inquires a client. Quite a many. In this country alone, about 300 people a year . . . JUST FOUND use for that word "uptight." Finally. Do you get "stalactite" and "stalagmite" confused? Likewise. But not anymore. From above — up — hangs the stalactite — tight, uptight.

YOU'VE HEARD of Hermann Rorschach, the creator of the famous ink blot test? His nickname was "Kleck" which meant "ink blot." But that's not the point, exactly. His dad was an art teacher, and Rorschach himself fiddled with ink drawing all his life, even in high school. Point is Kleck was his nickname years before he dreamed up the test.

OPEN QUESTION: Why is it a man lights a match by striking it toward himself while a woman lights a match by striking it away from herself?

PLEASE NOTE, residents of Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi send considerably more get-well cards to ailing friends than citizens elsewhere. The greeting card makers report that: Californians tend to send the most humorous cards, New Englanders the most cards to grandmothers, Midwesterners the most Golden Wedding anniversary cards.

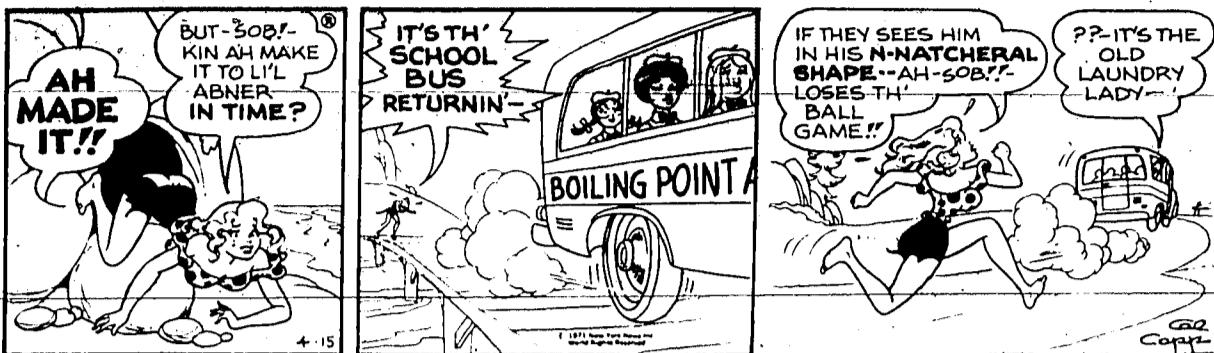

CUSTOMER SERVICE: Q. "As far as the Zodiac goes, which are the luckiest people? Does your Planet man know that?" A. The Sagittarians, no doubt about it, he says . . . Q. "If you boil down the average man, would you wind up with more salt or more sugar?" A. More sugar, a whole bowlful. You'd only get about six teaspoons of salt.

WHAT'S MOST APT to make a wife complain about her husband? Few authorities really know. But our Love and War man — good for him! — found out. The wife talks. About what happened around the house today. Her husband makes a point of looking bored. An obvious point. That's it. What she complains about most is the fact her husband shuts her down in this manner when she goes into a monologue.

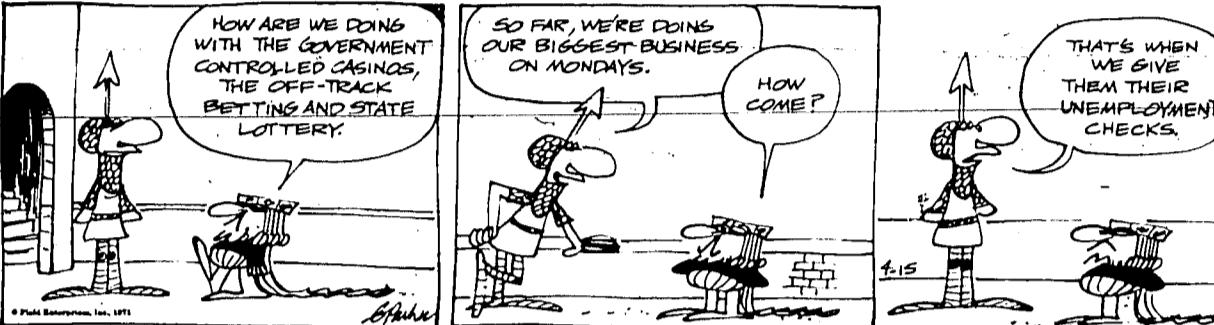

"WHY WOULD a fine young actor named Byron Barr change his name to Gig Young?" asked I. "Because that was the name of the character he played in his first picture," replied a kindly client. Ach so.

Snake dam plan halt asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Robert W. Packwood, R-Ore., calling for an end to dam building on the Snake River, said today a new study by the Bonneville Power Administration shows no more dams are needed to meet Pacific Northwest power needs.

Packwood, in a speech prepared for the Senate, said the "Hells Canyon" area of the Snake River between Idaho and Oregon should be preserved in its natural state as a part of the national scenic rivers system.

"Plans to build dams," Packwood said, "would 'destroy' the fast-flowing river at the bottom of the deepest gorge in the country."

The Oregon Republican placed into the congressional record a projection by Bernard Gold-hammer, assistant administraor of the BPA, that the senator said proved new dams were not necessary.

"Mr. Goldhammer has concluded that if we will continue with the non-hydro projects now planned for the Pacific Northwest and if we will install the generators already planned for existing dams on the Columbia

River and its tributaries, no

new dams will be needed,"

Ad joined him as cosponsors.

If the bill is not passed immediately, Packwood said, the Snake should be declared a wild or scenic river to preserve its free-flowing state.

An application for construction of two days by a combine of private and public utilities is now pending in the Federal Power Commission. An FPC examiner already has recommended that a license be granted for the two-dam project

sought by Pacific Northwest

Power Co. and the Washington

Public Power Supply System.

As proposed by FPC examiner William C. Levy, work on the dam could not begin until late 1975 in order to give congress time to consider proposals for preserving the area in its natural state.

ARCO — Glenn A. Phillips, Idaho commander, Veterans of Foreign Wars, said Idaho is now in second place nationally in its membership drive.

Phillips said Idaho lost to Rhode Island by .03 percent. He said Idaho needed three more members to retain first place.

Idaho now has 57 active VFW posts and membership is well over 6,000, Phillips said.

He noted the state convention will be held June 10-12 at Idaho Falls.
